Snakes

Welcome to Australia and our beautiful critters. In the unlikely event you do come across a snake we highly recommend you have a compression bandage on your person at all times. It's highly unlikely you'll see one and even more unlikely that you'll get bitten. This could save your life.

A compression bandage (and staying still and calm) are the two best assurances that you will, if bitten, live. (Information to the right) Memorise. And carry the damn bandage. Because dying by snake bite is way more annoying than having to carry a bandage.

Management

1. Follow DRSABCD.
2. Rest and reassure the patient.
3. Apply a broad pressure bandage
 - (preferably crepe) over the bite site as soon as possible.
4. Apply a pressure immobilisation bandage
 - apply a firm heavy crepe or elasticised roller bandage
 - start just above the fingers or toes, and move upwards on the limb as far as can be reached (include the snake bite)
 - apply tightly without stopping blood supply to the limb.
5. Splint the bandaged limb.
6. Ensure the patient does not move.
7. Write down the time of the bite and when the bandage was applied
 - stay with the patient.
 - check circulation in fingers or toes.
